

Alan Peabody

Senior Software Developer

Alan graduated from Husson College with a Bachelor's Degree in Management Accounting in 1997. After graduation, Alan worked for an accounting firm specializing in non-profit and governmental audits. Upon leaving the accounting firm, Alan worked for a local oil pipeline company as a revenue accountant and network administrator for 4 years, and then as a project manager and scheduler for 2 years.

Alan joined the information technology area at Smith Group in July 2003 as the Senior Actuarial Developer. Alan is responsible for network management, end-user desktop support, and assisting in maintaining current applications and developing new applications as needed including website development.

